BRAZILIANS VOTED BEST TOURISTS, GERMANS WORST

In a recent survey conducted by the American Board of Tourism, professionals in various areas of the tourism industry have rated Brazilians as the world's best tourists. The survey gave points for things like 'politeness,' 'willingness to understand and speak English' and 'cultural sensitivity.' People working in jobs ranging from taxi-drivers to hotel receptionists and airline flight attendants almost unanimously rated the Brazilians as being 'friendly' and 'polite.'

The opposite seemed true of the Germans. "The Germans just don't seem to get it," said one manager of a hotel chain, based in New Orleans. "They're rude and impatient yet they expect service with a smile. They travel outside Germany yet want to have things just like at home. Plus, they never tip."

The best tippers are Japanese, according to the survey. A travel agent representative explains: "The Japanese are afraid of 'losing face'. They'll do what they think is expected of them in the country they're visiting, so they're usually extremely polite. They rate very high in the cultural sensitivity category."

The French scored extremely low in the 'willingness to understand and speak English' category. "It's amazing. They can be so rude and snobby," said a ticket agent at Chicago O'Hare International Airport. "You try to explain things to them and they answer you back in French. Not only that, they smoke too much - even where it's not allowed - and they're generally messy, leaving cigarettes and other rubbish on the floor. It's unbelievable."
